Pearl Street Landmark Is Sold Friday

The Hotel Huntington at 23 Pearl street, a Kingston landmark since the late 19th Century, has been sold to a group known as Ulster Associates, Inc.

The deed, filed with the county clerk on Friday, transferred the property from Sidney Treinkman to the corporation headed by Lawrence Jacobs, president, and Meyer Levy, treasurer.

The transaction was arranged by Christopher D. Morris, representing Walter Donaruma, broker. Harry Gold was attorney for the buyer and Aaron Klein represented the seller.

THE 40-ROOM HOTEL was one of the city's outstanding hotels in the late 19th Century and for two decades thereafter.

Many well-known persons of the past have lived or stopped at the hotel, among them the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and Admiral Francis Higginson.

Treinkman purchased the building in 1948 from the late C. R. Morris, who had become the owner in 1945 on purchase from Col. Carlton M. Preston, who owned and managed the hotel for over 30 years.

THE NEW OWNERS plan to continue to operate the building as a hotel as in the past.

During the time Treinkman owned the building, many extensive improvements and alterations were made.

Selling price was not disclosed, but excise stamps on the deed indicate the amount was in the "mid-five figures" bracket.

Russian authorities turned the men, one soldier and one civilian, over to U. S. officials at 3 p. m. (9 a. m. EST).

They were taken immediately for medical examinations by army doctors.

The men are Pvt. William T. Marchuk, 38, of Brackenridge, Pa., and John H. Noble, 31, of Detroit. $101 Billion Road Program Is Favored

Washington, Jan. 8 (AP)—A presidential commission is prepared to recommend a 101-billion-dollar state and federal highway program to run over the next 10 years.

The five-man advisory commission headed by retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay agreed yesterday to recommend to President Eisenhower federal sponsorship of a 54-billion-dollar addition to the 47 billion-dollar state and federal governments normally would spend in the 10-year period.

Eisenhower is expected to stay pretty close to the group's line of reasoning when he submits his highway program to Congress on Jan. 27.

CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS were given an advance peek at the commission's report last night. A certain amount of bipartisan support for a major highway development program already has cropped up on Capitol Hill. Proponents regard such a program as vital to national defense and as a stimulus for the economy. But there appeared to be divided opinion about proposed financing.

The commission's report, as outlined yesterday by its executive director, Frank Turner, calls for the federal government to pay "substantially all" of the approximately 24-billion dollar cost of updating the 40,000 mile "strategic network" of interstate highways.

AS THINGS STAND, the federal government lays out 60 per cent of the cost of work on interstate roads. The states pay the rest.

For financing the expanded program, the report to be submitted to the President next Tuesday suggests establishment of a new agency—much like the now defunct Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC)—to float bonds to pay for the federal share of the work. The proposed bonds would be sold to the public.

There were indications the financing program would have certain self-liquidating features, but no details were given on this point.

IS WAS CONSIDERED likely the highway bonds would not be charged against the national debt, but would be incorporated into a separate fund.

Such a proposal, if it ends up in Eisenhower's recommendations to Congress, might run into trouble in Capitol Hill. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said earlier this week he does not look with favor on the idea of issuing bonds outside the legal debt limit to pay for the projected highway development. Byrd is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. However, some bipartisan support already has turned up for an RFC-type agency to handle the highway program financing.

2 Favored Discharge Of Peress

Method Quickest Way Out for Army

Washington, Jan. 8 (AP)—The army said last night final approval of an honorable discharge for Maj. Irving Peress—an action opposed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.)—came from Army Counselor John G. Adams and Lt. Gen. Walter L. Weible, a deputy chief of staff.

The army and Weible made the final decision to discharge Peress, the army said, because a review indicated "there existed no basis for reconsideration of the case" and that the discharge was the best and quickest way to remove him in the absence of evidence he had engaged in subversion on active duty.

In a 10,000-word chronology of the case, the army noted, however, that the 1st Army Intelligence Division had reported nine months earlier it had "sufficient evidence of disloyal and subversive tendencies to warrant removal of Peress from the service."

THE ARMY ALSO reported that Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Swicker, a frequent target of McCarthy during the senator's initial study of the case, had several times urged Peress be discharged because his reputation was "clearly not consistent with the interests of national security."

Zwicker was commander of Camp Filmer, N. J., where Peress was stationed.

McCarthy, swinging quickly back into action, called a Monday meeting of the Senate Investigations subcommittee and said he would demand new hearings, possibly Tuesday, with subpoenas for some army officials concerned. McCarthy said he is still acting as chairman of the committee until it is reorganized under Democratic control.

Suicide Puts Dr. Sheppard Under Guard

Cleveland, Jan. 8 (AP)—Grief and hope were companions to Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard today in his county jail cell—grief over his mother's suicide and hope he could win freedom on bail and an appeal from his life sentence for murder.

The cell was not the same one where the handsome, 31-year-old osteopath has spent all but four weeks since July 4 when his pregnant wife, Marilyn, was clubbed to death in her bed. A jury convicted Sheppard of the crime Dec. 21.

AFTER HE GOT the news that his wife-haired mother had shot herself to death, Sheppard was moved in spite of his protests, to the jail's observation cell where he will be under constant watch.

Prisoners are put in the observation cell when it is feared they may commit violence to themselves.

Members of his family who told Sheppard of his mother's death yesterday afternoon said he had "broken down completely," but he regained his composure before transferring to the new cell.

"Mother was very proud," said Sheppard's oldest brother, Richard, one of those who visited the jail. "She had complete faith in Sam's innocence, but all of this was just too much for her."

Session Lasts Five Hours on 11 Airmen

Tokyo, Jan. 8 (AP)—Peiping radio reported Dag Hammarskjöld and Premier Chou En-lai met for more than five hours this evening regarding the 11 U. S. airmen imprisoned by Red China as "spies."

It was the longest closed-door session of the three held thus far. The broadcast, heard here and in San Francisco, gave no details aside from those attending the session but said another meeting would be held Monday.

TODAY'S MEETING between the UN secretary-general and the Chinese Communist leader began at 3 p. m. (2 a. m. EST) and continued until 8:15 p. m.

Said the broadcast: "Present at the meeting this afternoon were Chang Han Fu, vice minister for foreign affairs; Chiao Kuan Hua, assistant minister for foreign affairs; Prof. Chou Keng Shen, advisor to the ministry of foreign affairs; and Tung Yueh Chien, director of the Department of International Organizations and Conferences of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs."

"ALSO PRESENT were Ahmed S. Bokhari, under secretary of the United Nations; Fei Lind of the executive office of the United Nations secretary-general; and Humphrey Waldock, professor of international law."

The Red radio's previous broadcasts, monitored here and in San Francisco, have given no hint of progress in the more than seven hours of closed-door conferences between the United Nations secretary-general and Chou.

NEITHER HAS there been any hint of a possible stalemate. Notably absent from the broadcasts since Hammarskjöld's arrival three days ago have been the usual old charges of U. S. "espionage."

Train Rams Car; Truck Hits Child

Elizabeth Browne, Ernest Weeks Die

Ulster county's first two motor vehicle fatalities for the year 1955 occurred within three hours of each other on Friday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Browne, 54, wife of John E. Browne of Lake Katrine, was killed instantly when the automobile she was driving was struck by a passenger train at a private crossing at Lake Katrine at 4:27 p. m.

Ernest Weeks, 11, of Quarryville, was fatally injured at 7:20 p. m. when struck by the side of a truck on Route 32 at Quarryville. He died at the Benedictine Hospital at 10:20 p. m.

STATE POLICE of the Kingston station said Mrs. Browne was thrown from the automobile she was driving when it was struck by southbound Engine No. 8262 pulling a six-car passenger train on the West Shore division of the New York Central Railroad.

The automobile, a Studebaker sedan owned by Mr. Browne, was dragged an estimated 1,500 feet by the locomotive.

Members of the train crew were John F. Murray of Rensselaer, conductor; Garry Neighmond, Hackensack, N. J., engineer, and Edward Kenell, of Orangeburg, fireman, troopers said.

CONDUCTOR MURRAY told troopers the train was traveling about 50 miles an hour and that he had blown the whistle for the Lake Katrine public crossing just before reaching the private crossing, where the automobile was struck.

Mrs. Browne was killed instantly, troopers said, and her injuries were listed as a fracture of the cervical vertebra, compound fracture of the right tibia and severe head lacerations.

INVESTIGATION was by Lt. J. J. Nicklas, Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly, Cpl. Raymond J. Dunn and Trooper W. L. Shurter of the state police and Coroner Michael A. Galletta.

The body was taken to the Francis J. McCord Funeral Home in Kingston.

The funeral of Mrs. Browne will be held at 9 a. m. Tuesday from the Francis J. McCord Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, thence to St. Joseph's Church where a Mass of requiem will be offered at 9:30 a. m. for the repose of her soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

There are no survivors besides her husband, John E. Browne, a retired interior decorator. The Browns had lived at Lake Katrine for the past nine years.

ERNEST WEEKS, 11, son of Louis and Frieda Weeks, of Quarryville, was fatally injured and his companion, Ronald Doyle, 15, also of Quarryville, received minor injuries when they were struck by a van-type truck about 7:20 p. m.

Six Nations Study French Plan on Pooling of Arms

Paris, Jan. 8 (AP)—The six nations to be linked with France in the new west European union studied today a new French plan to pool their arms and troops in a combined defense against the threat of Communist aggression.

The plan was set forth in a memorandum from French Premier Pierre Mendes-France to the other prospective WEU members—West Germany, Britain, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The arms pool plan will be debated when delegates of the seven governments assemble here Jan. 17 under the recent Paris accords on West German rearmament.

Your Life And Mine

THOUGHTFULNESS

I have a new garbage pail. Last the news of that event disrupted the life of our city by sending our citizens into fits of uncontrollable ecstasy so that the Mayor has to call on outside help in order to quell the disrupting celebration, let me hasten to add that the newness already has worn off. And how! It has only been to the curb six or eight times; yet it is well on the road to becoming nothing but a jammed-up piece of junk. The edges are all knocked in and it has several indentations in it. It already looks like a veteran of many wars—and it has served only for a few brief encounters.

I hope the man who collects the garbage on our street reads these lines. For if he were a little more thoughtful of me, and of the fact that when my garbage pail wears out I'll have to "fork over the dough" to buy another, he wouldn't bang it around like he does.

As far as I can see there is not the slightest hint of an advantage the garbage man gains by being so unkind to my can. If he received a nice fat commission on every garbage can that was sold I could see some point in shunting them off to the tin can cemetery as soon as possible. Then the profits would mount with the number of effective dents which could be inflicted on each trip. But, to my knowledge, there is no such league of the tin can salesmen and the carters of refuse. What he does to my can can't possibly provide any special satisfaction to him—or any extra money in his weekly pay envelope. Therefore it must be a case of just plain thoughtlessness.

Granted it makes very little difference to the man who dumps my garbage how soon my can wears out. But the kind of behavior which thinks that no carelessness is important except that which involves our own private welfare is one of the major sources of the troubles that beset the world today. If care is something we exercise only when we reap the benefits and thoughtfulness is something we employ only when we have to pay the bill; and then we shall never find a world where there is happiness and contentment, peace and security.

Good old-fashioned thoughtfulness will make garbage cans last longer. But that is only an infinitesimal hint of its importance in the world. While spreading the thoughtfulness I have resolved to be a little more thoughtful in the areas where my concern will count. How about you?

'Labor Priest' Keeps Peace At Second Largest Port

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON
NEA Special Correspondent

Philadelphia — (NEA) — The sprawling Port of Philadelphia is the nation's second largest. But since 1951, it has been almost free of work stoppages and labor troubles that constantly plague other seaports. Behind that unique record is a straight-talking Jesuit priest who works without a fee, believes in fair rewards for both labor and management, and walks the dark waterfront at night without fear.

During the summer of 1951, the Rev. Daniel J. Comey, S.J., was asked to serve as arbitrator on several labor-management questions which threatened to tie up the port and some 7000 workers from Trenton, N. J., to Wilmington, Del., along the Delaware River. He accepted the job and resolved the problems.

Now Father Comey is the sole and final arbitrator of all labor questions in the port which sends up the harbor materials from throughout the world. He has handled some 200 cases, writing reports on more than 90 — and work stoppages have been practically nil since he took over as labor umpire.

THE CLERIC'S STRONG AUTHORITY is plainly defined in a contract between the Philadelphia Marine Trade Association and the International Longshoremen's Association. "Once they knew how to get rid of it," he says, with a twinkle of Irish humor in his voice.

Since 1943, Father Comey has been director of the Institute of Industrial Relations at St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia. The night school he helped organize now has a faculty and student body of several hundred drawn from labor and management fields.

"We're in labor-management relations and we teach principles of ethics which fit both sides. We're interested in human values—not just mere methods," he explained.

A native Philadelphian who was educated in this country and abroad, Father Comey speaks several foreign languages fluently, a big advantage when dealing with longshoremen. He is as much at home talking with the rugged pier workers as in a classroom.

HIS SOMETIMES BLUNT manner hides a deep and consistent "desire for social betterment"—his only reward for the difficult and somewhat thankless job.

Day and night the tall, white-haired cleric is called on to umpire disputes which could halt the vital port operations. He feels his work with both sides has taught labor and management representatives the ability to solve some of their own problems.

"As they see me sift out the facts and diagnose a situation, they must learn to do the same for themselves," says.

While he has been called a "labor priest," Father Comey says he tries to settle each case on its merits. He's not concerned about maintaining a batting average, but rather a sensible, working solution fair to both sides.

Outsiders often wonder why there is a constant threat of trouble at many of America's seaports. "The very nature of waterfront work makes it open to abuse. No ship makes money unless it is moving," Father Comey explains.

He gets no salary or fee for his labor mediation work. Each side is supposed to pay $50 for each case he handles, the money to help operate the Institute of St. Joseph's. The Marine Trade group generally pays promptly, but the union is somewhat slower—but he never worries about the money.

Port problems are not Father Comey's sole concern. He's on the arbitration panel set up by the Upholsterers International Union and for a local steel firm, as well as handling many outside mediating assignments.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER named him to the fact-finding panel which studied the cause of the strike among longshoremen on the Atlantic Coast more than a year ago. In addition, he also writes a column or labor-management subjects which appears in several diocesan weekly papers in the East and Midwest.

Is the clergyman safe walking along the dark waterfront streets at night on his way to settle a dispute? The hulking longshoremen will assure you that he has not a thing to worry about, and Father Comey feels very safe.

"I'm always treated with respect. I'm fond of longshoremen—they trust me," he said.

Rabbit Gets Teeth

Meridian, Miss. (AP)—When it comes to pulling "baby teeth" Mrs. Marge Aust, a teacher for 25 years, believes there's no better anaesthetic than the story of "Brer Rabbit."

And Mrs. Aust should know. She recently pulled her 1600th tooth and, as usual, had the tooth dangling on a string while the tiny patient sat enthralled with the tale of the resourceful rabbit. In fact, says Mrs. Aust, the little student was disappointed that the tooth was out before the story ended.

They are Richard Priepke, Alexander Goercke, Charles Baxter and George Zellmer. The act of installation will be performed by the pastor, the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, DD, who will preach a special sermon on the theme, Amazed at God.

Elmer Ryalnce was reelected president of the congregation at the annual meeting. Other officers elected were Herman Osmer, vice president; Edward Snyder, secretary; Robert Schwenk, treasurer; and Charles Baxter, financial secretary.

These officers also will be installed at this service.

President Ryalnce has announced the appointment of the following permanent committees:

Church property—George Zellmer, chairman; Richard Priepke, Frank Snyder, Charles Hoppe, Finance—Charles Baxter, chairman; Robert Schwenk, Herman Osmer, treasurer; Herman Osmer, chairman; Richard Priepke, Alfred Rylea, Education and literature—Robert Schwenk, chairman; Elmer Ryalnce and Paul Terpening, chairman.

Soak the Soil Without Wetting Plant Leaves

So far as the outdoor garden is concerned, modern research has established the validity of the old gardener's maxim: "Give a plant a drink when it's dry."

But phytopathologists, or plant doctors, are insisting that so far as possible water should be applied directly to the soil, without wetting the leaves of plants.

Drops of water thrown by a sprinkler scatter the fungi, they explain, and when the leaves are dampness combine to favor the spread of disease.

A good soil holds both water and air at the same time. These are particles, called "pores." When there is an excess of water, air is driven out, and the plants suffer for lack of it. This occurs in gardens when water stands on the surface and is the reason why quick drainage of excess water is so important.

Lack of water, on the other hand, is also harmful to the plants. A balance between air and water must be maintained. A plant will make the best root growth when it is drying the soil down. When the soil is soaked, and the excess drains away quickly, fresh air enters the soil to take the place of the water.

No Safety Guarantee

Just because a screwdriver or pair of pliers has an insulated handle doesn't mean it's safe to use on electric fixtures when the lines are hot. Moisture from your hands can make the insulated handle pretty inefficient.

Protect Faucet

Before taking a faucet apart to replace a washer or for any other reason, cover the faucet with a cloth or masking tape so that the wrench won't mar the finish.

Flooring Laid Last

The laying of the finish floor should always be the last step in building construction. Floors should not be laid until plaster and cement are dry and wood-work and trim have been installed.

Root Maggots a Menace

When setting out cabbage, broccoli or cauliflower plants, protect them against root maggots by putting a collar of tan paper around the stem of each plant, close to the ground.

Handy Shelves

"Step" shelves in kitchen cabinets are wonderfully handy for storing cups, saucers and other dishes. They may be bought or easily made in a home workshop.

Moth Damage

If carpets are exposed to light and air and cleaned regularly with an efficient cleaner, there should be no danger from moths.

'The Rommel' Always in Style

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Three
Closets Six
Cubage 23,300 ft.
Dimensions 26' x 36'
Overall 64'

Simplicity is the keynote to the appeal of "The Rommel," today's presentation from the Home of the Week Plan Service; clean, uncluttered lines assure you that if you build this house your home will look equally attractive in any site and will always be "in style."

A modification of the popular ranch style, this house contains five good-sized rooms plus a connecting porchway which can be converted into a first floor laundry. The attractive, well planned interior is the perfect complement to the good looking exterior.

While the house proper measures 26 by 36 feet overall measurements are 64 by 36 feet. Total cubage is 23,300 feet. Thus, you'll need at least an 85-foot lot to build the house plus attached one car garage.

Exterior Finish

With a house of this type selection of the exterior finish can be left to the preference of the owner. Clapboards with a stained wood trim—as used in the accompanying illustration—make an interesting and appropriate combination.

An optional purpose room which can be used as a bedroom, den or dining room is one example of the way in which this house is designed to suit the needs of the family living in it. Located next to the kitchen, this multi-purpose room also can be reached by a door from the living room; if you decide to use this area as a bedroom you can eliminate the door leading to the kitchen.

Bedrooms

Both regular bedrooms are located in the left wing of the house. Closets in each of these bedrooms provide ample storage facilities as do the four other conveniently located closets.

Because of its size and also decorative appeal the living room can very well serve as a dining room, too. The fireplace and large picture window combine to give the room a delightfully charming appearance.

In the all modern kitchen there is a pleasant breakfast nook which reaps the benefit of the extra light coming through the two front windows. Access is provided to both yards from the connecting porch—or laundry. You can enter or leave the garage without going outside by using the door in the right wall of this porch or laundry.

Heating Plant

Under the living room is the best location for the heating plant. And, if you don't put your laundry equipment on the ground floor, you should place it under the kitchen.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Use for Egg Carton

An egg carton of the molded variety makes a handy holder for screws, nuts, bolts, and other small items in the workshop. Closed, it also provides an easy means of carrying them to odd jobs around the house.

Might Happen to You

Before you build a garage, install a fence or driveway, check the survey of your property to be sure you are building on your own land and not your next door neighbor's. Things like this happen almost daily and can break up a beautiful friendship.

Keep It on the Level

Lots of dinners are spoiled because the kitchen range is uneven and fats or liquids in a pan gather at one end. Use thin wood shims or wedges and a large level to get the range sitting just right.

Large Kitchens Encroach on Living Rooms

The growing trend toward informality—sports shirts, shorts, "come-as-you-are"—is causing the kitchen to burst at its seams and attempt to push the living room out of the house.

Some people, who have taken seriously the idea of having a house planned for the way they live, are building homes with big kitchens and little living rooms as small as old-fashioned parlors. These slacks-and-sneakers kitchens measure 20 by 20 feet and more. They include space for a complete dining-room suite of furniture, sofas and club chairs, piano and television and a big fireplace.

The owners argue that since they almost never use a living room they have little need for it. They don't even put a fireplace in it. They prefer to live in a big and comfortable kitchen and on its adjoining garden terrace.

Preventing Scratches

Attach adhesive-backed felt tape to vases and other decorative objects to prevent table-top scratches. Such pieces can be washed in soapsuds as usual, but allow plenty of time for tape to dry before using again.

Color for Dormers

Dormers on a too-tall house should be painted the dark roof color so that they will visually become a part of the roof and not of the side walls. This will make the house seem lower.

Care of Lilacs

Lilacs will remain in good condition for years if kept well fertilized and watered during dry periods. Cut out cross branches and keep the center open, and if mildew appears, spray or dust with sulphur.

Caulk the Seam

The seam between bathtub and wall can be filled with caulking compound. This makes a waterproof joint and one that will not crack out with any slight movement of the tub or wall.

Order Seeds Early

It is not too early to make out your list of seeds for the coming season, particularly if you are ordering some of the newer varieties that might be quickly sold out.

Prevent Rust

Give the inside of toilet flush tanks a good scrubbing out from time to time. This will prevent rust and sediment accumulating in the tank and straining the toilet bowl.

Better to See You

Non-fogging bathroom mirrors have concealed heating elements which keep the glass at a higher temperature than dew point.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE Bridge Sleuths Can Have Fun Here

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

A bridge crime took place in the hand shown today. It wasn't really a horrible crime, so you may have trouble spotting it. See how good you are as a bridge detective.

Just in case you're suspicious of the bidding, let me steer you away from a false clue. South's jump to four spades was a rather good shutout bid. East could have made five diamonds, but only because the clubs blocked so that opponents couldn't take three club tricks. It was quite reasonable for West to double four spades.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the queen of diamonds. East dropped the nine of diamonds on the second trick, intending this as a signal that his side strength was in a high suit—hearts rather than clubs. The signal wasn't really necessary, of course, since dummy's ace and king of clubs were in plain sight.

South ruffed the queen of diamonds and led the queen of spades. West played low, and South continued with the king of spades. This time, of course, West took the ace of spades and led a heart.

East took the king of hearts and led the ace of diamonds

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Osterhoudt accompanied by Mrs. Osterhoudt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Kripplush left for their winter home in Florida New Year's Day.

Mrs. Magda Andersen and Mrs. Anna Samsing had as their New Year's guests, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Andersen and children Christine Rose and Gordon Peter diamond through declarer's trumps.

South shouldn't have been given this chance to make the contract. East, another criminal, should have played the ace of diamonds at the second trick. If South ruffed, East would later get the lead with a heart to push a diamond through declarer.

If South discarded a heart instead of ruffing, East would lead a third diamond at once. South would ruff with the king, of course, but West would refuse to overruff and would therefore get two trump tricks eventually.

Some people, who have taken seriously the idea of having a house planned for the way they live, are building homes with big kitchens and little living rooms as small as old-fashioned parlors.

These slacks-and-sneakers kitchens measure 20 by 20 feet and more. They include space for a complete dining-room suite of furniture, sofas and club chairs, piano and television and a big fireplace.

The owners argue that since they almost never use a living room they have little need for it. They don't even put a fireplace in it. They prefer to live in a big and comfortable kitchen and on its adjoining garden terrace.

Preventing Scratches

Attach adhesive-backed felt tape to vases and other decorative objects to prevent table-top scratches. Such pieces can be washed in soapsuds as usual, but allow plenty of time for tape to dry before using again.

Color for Dormers

Dormers on a too-tall house should be painted the dark roof color so that they will visually become a part of the roof and not of the side walls. This will make the house seem lower.

Care of Lilacs

Lilacs will remain in good condition for years if kept well fertilized and watered during dry periods. Cut out cross branches and keep the center open, and if mildew appears, spray or dust with sulphur.

Caulk the Seam

The seam between bathtub and wall can be filled with caulking compound. This makes a waterproof joint and one that will not crack out with any slight movement of the tub or wall.

Order Seeds Early

It is not too early to make out your list of seeds for the coming season, particularly if you are ordering some of the newer varieties that might be quickly sold out.

Prevent Rust

Give the inside of toilet flush tanks a good scrubbing out from time to time. This will prevent rust and sediment accumulating in the tank and straining the toilet bowl.

Better to See You

Non-fogging bathroom mirrors have concealed heating elements which keep the glass at a higher temperature than dew point.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Bridge Sleuths Can Have Fun Here

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

A bridge crime took place in the hand shown today. It wasn't really a horrible crime, so you may have trouble spotting it. See how good you are as a bridge detective.

Just in case you're suspicious of the bidding, let me steer you away from a false clue. South's jump to four spades was a rather good shutout bid. East could have made five diamonds but only because the clubs blocked so that opponents couldn't take three club tricks. It was quite reasonable for West to double four spades.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the queen of diamonds. East dropped the nine of diamonds on the second trick, intending this as a signal that his side strength was in a high suit—hearts rather than clubs. The signal wasn't really necessary, of course, since dummy's ace and king of clubs were in plain sight.

South ruffed the queen of diamonds and led the queen of spades. West played low, and South continued with the king of spades. This time, of course, West took the ace of spades and led a heart.

East took the king of hearts and led the ace of diamonds through declarer. Now West was sure to win a trick with the ten of spades. If South ruffed low, West would overruff; and if South ruffed with the jack, West's ten would become the high trump.

South therefore went down at his game contract. It shouldn't be hard to spot the criminal. Decide for yourself before you read on.

South was one of the criminals, but not the only one. He should have discarded his heart on the queen diamonds. Then East would never be able to gain the lead in order to lead a diamond through declarer's trumps.

South shouldn't have been given this chance to make the contract. East, another criminal, should have played the ace of diamonds at the second trick. If South ruffed, East would later get the lead with a heart to push a diamond through declarer.

If South discarded a heart instead of ruffing, East would lead a third diamond at once. South would ruff with the king, of course, but West would refuse to overruff and would therefore get two trump tricks eventually.

NEW CALENDAR

Calendar reformers are taking heart because the Council of the United Nations has asked all governments, whether members of the UN or not, to send in their views on creating a better calendar by May 1955. If enough replies are favorable, the General Assembly of the UN is expected to prepare a plan for ratification by the various governments.

The idea is to have every year start with Sunday. The first months of each quarter would have 31 days, the rest 30. After December 30 would come a special day, called Worldday, an international holiday. Every fourth year another special day would be added after June 30.

If every year was like every other year, business men would not have to make complicated calculations as to future demands. December in one year would be precisely like December in every year, beginning on the same day. Railroad and bus schedules would be easier to bear in mind. Department stores would undoubtedly welcome a simplified calendar.

The new proposal has been adopted in principle by several small nations, by France, and by Russia. Many organizations in other countries are behind the move. The Vatican has declared itself not opposed in principle.

If enough push is put behind the project, it may go through.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME?

Many people believe that the first step in the reduction of juvenile delinquency, the first step in the clean-up of vice and corruption, in the controlling of disease and in the establishment of an atmosphere of well-being in this nation lies in the solution of housing problems.

Reclamation of slum areas cleans up more than the unlovely landscape of most cities. Redevelopment of those temporary housing areas, some of them still standing since the first World War, might see the establishment of a permanency of some things more cheerful than simply a well built house.

A family has not a home when it lives in an exhausted, sagging hovel that traps and holds disease and despair. It has not a home when the smell of decay is in the crumbling plaster of leaning walls. It has not a home when splintery floors tremble with every footstep. It has not a home as long as the place they live, with its reminder of rot, thrusts a grim shadow of anxiety and hopelessness into their midst.

These houses, tenements and apartments spill their occupants upon the streets. Children learn to live in gutters and parents avoid the stark ugliness of "home". Nothing that is clean, or new, or alive can live in health in the fetid atmosphere of this kind of age.

Disillusionment is a disease that grows like a canker in such areas. It is a disease that is dangerous to ignore.

Don't fret, just relax and be appreciative. No person at sixty is expected to do more in one day than he did in two hours at thirty. Perhaps this is nature's form of reward after one has sailed through the years.

ALLIES CAN DIFFER

In an article in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Don Brown reflected that in early 1954 a certain amount of strain existed in relations between the United States and Canada. At the year's end, however, a firmer basis of friendship and understanding seems to have been developed.

The United States and Canada have found themselves disagreeing on foreign affairs and on policies toward Communist China. Despite these differences, however, they have managed to cooperate in playing their roles in the defense of Europe and the free world.

Differences of opinion between friends and allies is to be expected. In some respects our interest and points of view are

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE VITT LETTER

The letter which George N. Vitt addressed to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, concerning Wolf Ladejinsky, is a long document of eight pages, typed single space. Apparently, Mr. Vitt has been waiting a long time to get it off his chest. Very little of the letter directly refers to Wolf Ladejinsky. He makes no pretense at having made any investigations concerning Ladejinsky.

The letter starts with an analysis of immigration to this country, an analysis which is strictly unrelated to the facts. For instance, he says:

"Most of immigrants coming from Russia before 1900 were members of religious sects who sought a place for free exercise of their peculiar faith. The Duhobors are a perfect example and their faith is a pagan aberration of Christianity. The Starovers, who crossed themselves with two fingers, were less 'aberrated' but fanatics just the same. These people were for the most part ignorant peasants and their cultural level was not raised as could be expected under the environmental conditions of the U.S.A. and Canada—they are still largely 'peasants'."

Between 1881 and 1900, the immigration from Russia, Poland and the Baltic States was not large, from about 10,000 in 1881 to 90,000 in 1900 and increasing constantly. It is not true that most of them were religious refugees or peasants; most of them were middle class persons who escaped from political persecution under the Czars.

Vitt says: "Immigrants who came from Russia in the period of 1904-5 could be called draft evaders during the Russo-Japanese war—traitors to their country in spite of the fact that that war was unpopular in Russia. A great many of that wave were Jews. No matter how much that war was hated in Russia, those who stayed to fight the Japanese had mostly contempt for the deserters. These were also largely from the lower and peasant classes."

The immigration from Russia did increase during 1904-5. But the rate of increase was not startling: 107,000 in 1902; 136,000 in 1903; 145,000 in 1904; 184,000 in 1905. Actually the largest increases occurred after the Russo-Japanese War was over: 215,000 in 1906; 258,000 in 1907. Draft evasion therefore was not the cause of the immigration; the cause was the oppressive conditions of life in Russia leading to revolution. Curiously, Vitt is altogether wrong about what happened in 1919 and since then. In 1919 and 1920, together, only 3,000 Russians came to this country. The highest immigration since then was in 1923 with only 21,000 immigrants. (Source for figures: Historical Statistics of the United States 1789-1945, Bureau of the Census.)

Dealing then with the first page of Vitt's letter, his conclusions do not relate to the data. However, he does say that the "post-1919 wave of Russian refugees was politically and otherwise desirable." That wave includes him!

I need to quote a few paragraphs because Vitt explains his personal interest: "It so happens that I was the only Russian speaking qualified sales engineer on the export staff of the Caterpillar Tractor Co. at that time. It also happened that the top management of Caterpillar decided to use me, a 'white Russian,' in its relations with Amtorg, thus risking to displease the obviously red Amtorg bosses, and against my own inclinations."

"The first Caterpillar deal with Soviets for tractors was initiated by me successfully in July 1927 at the Road Building Show in San Francisco, where Soviet engineers, accompanied by secret police (posing as members of purchasing delegations) and their own interpreters. In two years Caterpillar became by far the largest individual supplier of heavy equipment to Amtorg—over $18,000,000 worth."

"To say that I had become familiar with Amtorg is putting it mildly. . . ."

So, Vitt also worked for Amtorg, as an engineer, as Ladejinsky did as an interpreter, Vitt says:

"While in Siberia in 1929 the Soviets gave me an interpreter, even though my Russian was both better and more fluent than his. In one week he confessed to me that he was an MVD to report on wrecking sabotage if any—so I made him my orderly to carry my bags and camera and to hunt for food, and helped him write reports on me."

I think that I have given enough of this letter to show what it is all.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PAIN IN THE CHEST

Since chest pain is very common in persons over 50 years of age, we can see that it is important to be able to tell the difference between chest pain caused by coronary artery disease and that due to other causes. Surprisingly enough, we find that patients with coronary artery disease often do not have the typical symptoms of heart disease whereas those without heart disease may have some of its symptoms.

We read of an interesting experiment by Drs. A. M. Master, H. L. Jaffe, and L. Pordy, in Annals of Internal Medicine. These physicians reported on a series of 200 consecutive patients with chest pain, half of whom had an abnormal electrocardiogram which shows that there was something wrong with the action of the heart. Of this group, most were men over 50.

The other half showed nothing abnormal in their electrocardiogram and were able to perform the ordinary exercise test perfectly well. Most of this second group were men also, nearly half of them over 50, and none had heart disease developed in the four years since this experiment was done.

What were the findings in these two groups, one half with heart disease and the other half free of that condition? It was found that although a constrictive, (pulling together) type of pain was observed in many patients with coronary artery disease, it was absent in more than half of these and yet was present in some of the group who had no heart disease. It was noted that although the pain was located either under the breastbone or in the area of the chest overlying the heart in many patients with heart disease, it also was found in these two localities in many of the group with no heart trouble.

Pain in the chest came on with effort in 91 per cent (not 100 per cent as might have been expected) of the group with heart disease but it also came on with effort in 34 per cent of the group with no heart disease. Nitroglycerin gave no relief in 20 per cent with no heart disease.

These research physicians concluded, therefore, that many patients with coronary artery disease do not have the standard symptoms and that in the group without heart disease, many do have heart disease symptoms. A painstaking history of the chest pain will usually indicate the correct diagnosis but in doubtful cases complete examinations and long period of observation may be necessary to arrive at a true diagnosis.

bound to be different. Despite this, however, we are united on essential things. It is good for free men to understand this and to refuse to be too troubled when differences arise.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Republican employees of the Congress who two years ago were counting on nice long tenures in political patronage jobs are now preparing to move out. Some of them will have to leave town and go back where they came from. Others, who know the ropes a little better, will merely take second-string jobs while Democrats move back into the top spots.

All this swapping of jobs is regular procedure when the control of Congress changes from one party to the other. As the Democrats take over this month, they'll keep the political plums for themselves. The Republicans will take what's left. Two years ago it was the other way around. And if the Republicans gain control in the 1956 elections, there will be another switcheroo in January, 1957. That's the politics for you. No private business could operate under such rules. In all, about 1000 jobs change hands.

Patronage job shifts on Capitol Hill aren't as bad as they used to be. Nor is the situation as good as it might be. Attempts have been made to have the Congress put its employees on a non-partisan, Civil Service merit system basis, but the Congressmen have never gone for this whole hog.

THEY HAVE ACCEPTED A compromise whereby the top committee staff employees with a considerable degree of expert knowledge are kept on from year to year, regardless of political changes. Majority and minority counsel or technical staff advisers merely swap titles and desks, and business goes on as usual.

On the Senate side, the four top jobs are Secretary, Sergeant-at-arms, the two Floor Secretaries and Chaplain.

J. Mark Trice, Senate Secretary for the past two years, will go back to his former job as Minority Secretary, which he held during the 81st and 82nd Congresses.

Felton M. Johnson, who has been Democratic Minority Secretary during the 83rd Congress, is in line for the secretaryship. Joe Duke, former Senate Sergeant-at-arms, will probably take over that position again with the Democrats.

Chaplain of the Senate is the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, originally selected by the Democrats. The 80th Congress broke tradition in 1947 and selected their own Chaplain, the late Peter Marshall. On his death, the Rev. Mr. Harris was recalled and he will probably retain the position under the Democrats again.

WHERE MOST OF THE CHANGES occur are in the minor jobs of elevator operator, member of the Capitol police force, messenger, mail carrier, doorkeeper, worker in the document room or page boy.

There are 28 Senate pages. During the last Congress Democrats were permitted to name seven, Republicans 21. During the next Congress this ratio will be reversed.

The problem of who gets what job is decided by Democrat and GOP patronage committees. They're not as ruthless as they were in the old days of the uninhibited political spoils system.

For instance, a well-liked Republican policeman may not be kicked out by the Democrats. This is particularly true if he has a long service and would be due for retirement in a few years. Old and wellknown Negro messengers are also kept on.

There are over 150 patronage jobs opening up for the Democrats when they take over in January. Each Democratic senator can have about three patronage jobs if he wants them. Some senators won't bother with them, and trade or give away these plums to their colleagues for possibly other favors not on record.

ON THE HOUSE SIDE OF the Capitol, the party coming into power after an election has the right to make a clean sweep of some 700 jobs, but this just doesn't happen any more.

William R. Bonsell, Republican Sergeant-at-arms who is in charge of the 73-man House police force, estimates that the Republicans removed only about 40 per cent of the Democrats when they took over in 1953.

Since the Puerto Rican Nationalists tried to shoot up the House, there has been considerable effort to take the Capitol police out of the political spoils system and establish a specially trained force better able to cope with such crises. But so far this idea hasn't jelled.

One of the jobs in coming Democrats are having a squabble over is this sergeant-at-arms post. Joseph H. Callahan, minor party sergeant-at-arms in the last Congress, isn't planning to take the job. Leonard Mitchell and Zeake W. Johnson, Jr., two Democratic assistants in the sergeant-at-arms' office, are the leading candidates. Ralph H. Roberts, minority clerk of the House in the last Congress, will probably become clerk.

Patronage jobs opening up in the House are for some 400 door-men, 65 elevator operators, 52 folding room employees and 50 post office workers. This adds up to less than one job per Democratic member of Congress and is pretty slim political pickings.

Upward Trend

For the second consecutive year, 1954 fall registrations on American campuses set an upward trend. This is in contrast with the preceding five years of descending enrollments following the exodus of World War 2 veteran-students.

NEW CALENDAR

Calendar reformers are taking heart because the Council of the United Nations has asked all governments, whether members of the UN or not, to send in their views on creating a better calendar by May 1955. If enough replies are favorable, the General Assembly of the UN is expected to prepare a plan for ratification by the various governments.

The idea is to have every year start with Sunday. The first months of each quarter would have 31 days, the rest 30. After December 30 would come a special day, called World's Day, an international holiday. Every fourth year another special day would be added after June 30.

If every year was like every other year, business men would not have to make complicated calculations as to future demands. December in one year would be precisely like December in every year, beginning on the same day. Railroad and bus schedules would be easier to bear in mind. Department stores would undoubtedly welcome a simplified calendar.

The new proposal has been adopted in principle by several small nations, by France, and by Russia. Many organizations in other countries are behind the move. The Vatican has declared itself not opposed in principle.

If enough push is put behind the project, it may go through.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME?

Many people believe that the first step in the reduction of juvenile delinquency, the first step in the clean-up of vice and corruption, in the controlling of disease and in the establishment of an atmosphere of well-being in this nation lies in the solution of housing problems.

Reclamation of slum areas cleans up more than the unlovely landscape of most cities. Redevelopment of those temporary housing areas, some of them still standing since the first World War, might see the establishment of a permanency of some things more cheerful than simply a well built house.

A family has not a home when it lives in an exhausted, sagging hovel that traps and holds disease and despair. It has not a home when the smell of decay is in the crumbling plaster of leaning walls. It has not a home when splintery floors tremble with every footstep. It has not a home as long as the place they live, with its reminder of rot, thrusts a grim shadow of anxiety and hopelessness into their midst.

These houses, tenements and apartments spill their occupants upon the streets. Children learn to live in gutters and parents avoid the stark ugliness of "home". Nothing that is clean, or new, or alive can live in health in the fetid atmosphere of this kind of age.

Disillusionment is a disease that grows like a canker in such areas. It is a disease that is dangerous to ignore.

Don't fret, just relax and be appreciative. No person at sixty is expected to do more in one day than he did in two hours at thirty. Perhaps this is nature's form of reward after one has sailed through the years.

ALLIES CAN DIFFER

In an article in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Don Brown reflected that in early 1954 a certain amount of strain existed in relations between the United States and Canada. At the year's end, however, a firmer basis of friendship and understanding seems to have been developed.

The United States and Canada have found themselves disagreeing on foreign affairs and on policies toward Communist China. Despite these differences, however, they have managed to cooperate in playing their roles in the defense of Europe and the free world.

Differences of opinion between friends and allies is to be expected. In some respects our interest and points of view are

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE VITT LETTER

The letter which George N. Vitt addressed to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, concerning Wolf Ladejinsky, is a long document of eight pages, typed single space. Apparently, Mr. Vitt has been waiting a long time to get it off his chest. Very little of the letter directly refers to Wolf Ladejinsky. He makes no pretense at having made any investigations concerning Ladejinsky.

The letter starts with an analysis of immigration to this country, an analysis which is strictly unrelated to the facts. For instance, he says: "Most of immigrants coming from Russia before 1900 were members of religious sects who sought a place for free exercise of their peculiar faith. The Duhobors are a perfect example and their faith is a pagan aberration of Christianity. The Starovers, who crossed themselves with two fingers, were less 'aberrated' but fanatics just the same. These people were for the most part ignorant peasants and their cultural level was not raised as could be expected under the environmental conditions of the U.S.A. and Canada—they are still largely peasants." Between 1881 and 1900, the immigration from Russia, Poland and the Baltic States was not large, from about 10,000 in 1881 to 90,000 in 1900 and increasing constantly. It is not true that most of them were religious refugees or peasants; most of them were middle class persons who escaped from political persecution under the Czars.

Vitt says: "Immigrants who came from Russia in the period of 1904-5 could be called draft evaders during the Russo-Japanese war—traitors to their country in spite of the fact that that war was unpopular in Russia. A great many of that wave were Jews. No matter how much that war was hated in Russia, those who stayed to fight the Japanese had mostly contempt for the deserters. These were also largely from the lower and peasant classes."

The immigration from Russia did increase during 1904-5. But the rate of increase was not startling: 107,000 in 1902; 136,000 in 1903; 145,000 in 1904; 184,000 in 1905. Actually the largest increases occurred after the Russo-Japanese War was over: 215,000 in 1906; 258,000 in 1907. Draft evasion therefore was not the cause of the immigration; the cause was the oppressive conditions of life in Russia leading to revolution. Curiously, Vitt is altogether wrong about what happened in 1919 and since then. In 1919 and 1920, together, only 3,000 Russians came to this country. The highest immigration since then was in 1923 with only 21,000 immigrants. (Source for figures: Historical Statistics of the United States 1789-1945, Bureau of the Census.)

Dealing then with the first page of Vitt's letter, his conclusions do not relate to the data. However, he does say that the "post-1919 wave of Russian refugees was politically and otherwise desirable." That wave includes him!

I need to quote a few paragraphs because Vitt explains his personal interest: "It so happens that I was the only Russian speaking qualified sales engineer on the export staff of the Caterpillar Tractor Co. at that time. It also happened that the top management of Caterpillar decided to use me, a 'white Russian,' in its relations with Amtorg, thus risking to displease the obviously 'red' Amtorg bosses, and against my own inclinations."

"The first Caterpillar deal with Soviets for tractors was initiated by me successfully in July 1927 at the Road Building Show in San Francisco, where Soviet engineers, accompanied by secret police (posing as members of purchasing delegations) and their own interpreters. In two years Caterpillar became by far the largest individual supplier of heavy equipment to Amtorg—over $18,000,000 worth."

"To say that I had become familiar with Amtorg is putting it mildly. . . . etc., etc."

So, Vitt also worked for Amtorg, as an engineer, as Ladejinsky did as an interpreter, Vitt says:

"While in Siberia in 1929 the Soviets gave me an interpreter, even though my Russian was both better and more fluent than his. In one week he confessed to me that he was an MVD to report my wrecking sabotage if any—so I made him my orderly to carry my bags and camera and to hunt for food, and helped him write reports on me."

I think that I have given enough of this letter to show what it is all about. (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PAIN IN THE CHEST

Since chest pain is very common in persons over 50 years of age, we can see that it is important to be able to tell the difference between chest pain caused by coronary artery disease and that due to other causes. Surprisingly enough, we find that patients with coronary artery disease often do not have the typical symptoms of heart disease whereas those without heart disease may have some of its symptoms.

We read of an interesting experiment by Drs. A. M. Master, H. L. Jaffe, and L. Pordy, in Annals of Internal Medicine. These physicians reported on a series of 200 consecutive patients with chest pain, half of whom had an abnormal electrocardiogram which shows that there was something wrong with the action of the heart. Of this group, most were men over 50.

The other half showed nothing abnormal in their electrocardiogram and were able to perform the ordinary exercise test perfectly well. Most of this second group were men also, nearly half of them over 50, and none had heart disease developed in the four years since this experiment was done.

What were the findings in these two groups, one half with heart disease and the other half free of that condition? It was found that although a constrictive, "pulling together" type of pain was observed in many patients with coronary artery disease, it was absent in more than half of these and yet was present in some of the group who had no heart disease. It was noted that although the pain was located either under the breastbone or in the area of the chest overlying the heart in many patients with heart disease, it also was found in these two localities in many of the group with no heart trouble.

Pain in the chest came on with effort in 91 per cent (not 100 per cent as might have been expected) of the group with heart disease but it also came on with effort in 34 per cent of the group with no heart disease. Nitroglycerin gave no relief in 20 per cent with no heart disease.

These research physicians concluded, therefore, that many patients with coronary artery disease do not have the standard symptoms and that in the group without heart disease, many do have heart disease symptoms. A painstaking history of the chest pain will usually indicate the correct diagnosis but in doubtful cases complete examinations and long period of observation may be necessary to arrive at a true diagnosis.

End of the Road

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Republican employees of the Congress who two years ago were counting on nice long tenures in political patronage jobs are now preparing to move out. Some of them will have to leave town and go back where they came from. Others, who know the ropes a little better, will merely take second-string jobs while Democrats move back into the top spots.

All this swapping of jobs is regular procedure when the control of Congress changes from one party to the other. As the Democrats take over this month, they'll keep the political plums for themselves. The Republicans will take what's left. Two years ago it was the other way around. And if the Republicans gain control in the 1956 elections, there will be another switcheroo in January, 1957. That's politics for you. No private business could operate under such rules. In all, about 1000 jobs change hands.

Patronage job shifts on Capitol Hill aren't as bad as they used to be. Nor is the situation as good as it might be. Attempts have been made to have the Congress put its employees on a non-partisan, Civil Service merit system basis, but the Congressmen have never gone for this whole hog.

THEY HAVE ACCEPTED a compromise whereby the top committee staff employees with a considerable degree of expert knowledge are kept on from year to year, regardless of political changes. Majority and minority counsel or technical staff advisers merely swap titles and desks, and business goes on as usual.

On the Senate side, the four top jobs are Secretary, Sergeant-at-arms, the two Floor Secretaries and Chaplain.

J. Mark Trice, Senate Secretary for the past two years, will go back to his former job as Minority Secretary, which he held during the 81st and 82nd Congresses.

Felton M. Johnson, who has been Democratic Minority Secretary during the 83rd Congress, is in line for the secretaryship. Joe Duke, former Senate Sergeant-at-arms, will probably take over that position again with the Democrats.

Chaplain of the Senate is the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, originally selected by the Democrats. The 80th Congress broke tradition in 1947 and selected their own Chaplain, the late Peter Marshall. On his death, the Rev. Mr. Harris was recalled and he will probably retain the position under the Democrats again.

WHERE MOST OF THE CHANGES occur are in the minor jobs of elevator operator, member of the Capitol police force, messenger, mail carrier, doorkeeper, worker in the document room or page boy.

There are 28 Senate pages. During the last Congress Democrats were permitted to name seven, Republicans 21. During the next Congress this ratio will be reversed.

The problem of who gets what job is decided by Democrat and GOP patronage committees. They're not as ruthless as they were in the old days of the uninhibited political spoils system. For instance, a well-liked Republican policeman may not be kicked out by the Democrats. This is particularly true if he has a long service and would be due for retirement in a few years. Old and well-known Negro messengers are also kept on.

There are over 150 patronage jobs opening up for the Democrats in the Senate. This means that each Democratic senator can have about three patronage jobs if he wants them. Some senators won't bother with them, and trade or give away these plums to their colleagues for possibly other favors not on record.

ON THE HOUSE SIDE OF the Capitol, the party coming into power after an election has the right to make a clean sweep of some 700 jobs, but this just doesn't happen any more.

William R. Bonsell, Republican Sergeant-at-arms who is in charge of the 73-man House police force, estimates that the Republicans removed only about 40 per cent of the Democrats when they took over in 1953.

Since the Puerto Rican Nationalists tried to shoot up the House, there has been considerable effort to take the Capitol police out of the political spoils system and establish a specially trained force better able to cope with such crises. But so far this idea hasn't jelled.

One of the jobs in coming Democrats are having a squabble over is this sergeant-at-arms post. Joseph H. Callahan, minority sergeant-at-arms in the last Congress, isn't planning to take the top job. Landon Mitchell and Zeake W. Johnson, Jr., two Democratic assistants in the sergeant-at-arms' office, are the leading candidates. Ralph H. Roberts, minority clerk of the House in the last Congress, will probably become clerk.

Patronage jobs opening up in the House are for some 400 door-men, 65 elevator operators, 52 folding room employees and 50 post office workers. This adds up to less than one job per Democratic member of Congress and is pretty slim political pickings.

Russian Ballerina,
45 Today, Planning
To Continue Dancing

Moscow, Jan. 8 (AP)—Galina Ulanova, the prima ballerina who's probably the most renowned woman in the USSR, says she's going to be 45 years old tomorrow.

And she claims she doesn't fib about her age.

RETIRE? Nonsense! She says she will continue dancing until her shoes fall off.

This intense little woman said in an interview backstage at the Bolshoi Theatre today she will work as usual on her birthday.

She had to be reminded of the coincidence that tomorrow is also Premier Georgi Malenkov's birthday—his 53rd.

Even though she works she may have an extra cognac—her favorite drink—to celebrate. Her fans and fellow artists will get an opportunity to note the occasion, in a later "Ulanova Night" at the Bolshoi.

IN THIS COUNTRY ballet is almost as much of a national symbol as caviar or vodka and the masses are no less enthusiastic than the classes about ballet as an art.

Asked about her age Ulanova said: "I know it's usual for women to lie about their ages, but I was born on Jan. 8, 1910 in Leningrad." Sitting there drumming her fingers on the desk or twirling her wristwatch on her finger, Ulanova is never still a minute.

"Are you always that nervous? You never rest?"

"Yes," she replied, "you can say I'm at the top of my profession but each day I return home I find something imperfect in my performance—something lacking in three main things. These are technical ability, dramatic talent, and thirdly to be different from others. You must be tops in all to remain tops. You just can't stop working."

WHAT IS HER most cherished dream?

"I want to remain strong and healthy. I want no worries, peace and quiet and no threats. I want to see the sun in the summer and to enjoy the winter. I want to be able to go to western countries as easily as I walk down the Moscow river embankment to my home. I want peace and freedom from fear."

WILL SHE VISIT London and New York before retiring? Ulanova said she receives invitations from the world over but that the Soviet official agency for "cultural relations with foreign countries" (known in Moscow as Voks) makes the arrangements. In 1951 Ulanova danced in Florence, Italy, at the musical festival there. She was enthusiastically received by critics and audiences alike.

The two looks for spring, full skirted and long-torsoed, both demand careful attention to the figure underneath, but for different reasons. In her pert-as-a-gumdrop dress with the smooth tucking over the bosom (left), a gal needs a foundation that will emphasize her bosom, keep her waist small. Also, with the low v-neck, she must have something that won't make an unexpected appearance in her décolletage. The long smooth torso look (center), calls for a higher, rounded bosom, a relaxed waist and a flatter-than-ever hip. For either look, she selects a corselet (right) that does not flatten the bosom. It's strapless and tends to the figure right down over the hips. Cut low, it will go under low necks and strapless dresses without a give-away.

'MR. JONES' OR 'STILL JACK'?

A letter tells me: "I have been working for my employer for 15 years. I have known his family for a long time but only in a business way. Before he went away to boarding school, my employer's son used to come into the office quite regularly and I always called him Jack. I haven't seen him for quite some time but he is now grown up and out of college. When he comes into the office to see his father, should I call him Jack as I used to, or should I call him Mr. Jones? Or would Mr. Jack be correct?"

It would be best to call him Mr. Jones, and then if he tells you to call him Jack, you continue calling him by his first name.

A Question of Pronunciation
Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening while at a bridal shower the word vase came up for discussion. One of the girls pronounced it vase and immediately she was corrected and told that the correct pronunciation is vaze. Will you please tell me which is correct and also if the value of the vase has anything to do with the pronunciation.

Answer: I prefer vase (to rhyme with "daze"). In any case the value of the vase has absolutely nothing to do with the pronunciation.

Young Girl's Visiting Card
Dear Mrs. Post: My 17-year-old daughter will be graduated from high school shortly and I would like to know how her name should be engraved on the personal cards to be enclosed with the graduation announcements. Should it be Miss Mary Smith or Mary Smith?

Introducing Married Sister
Dear Mrs. Post: I am 16 years old and have an older married sister. When introducing her to friends of my own age, do I introduce her as "My sister Eileen" or as "Mrs. Jones."

Answer: You introduce her as "My sister Eileen, who is Mrs. Jones."

Is classical or popular music played for the wedding reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However leaflet E-2, includes this and other details on formal wedding procedure. Herrick Largely Responsible for Building Project

Woodstock, Jan. 7 — Many months ago the members of the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., planned to build a permanent stable on the property of the club's Ohayo Mountain riding ring. The club, which has worked long to bring about the construction of a permanent building, is about to see the dream realized as the new building 36 feet by 66 feet, with a 12-foot section added on either side making the building actually 88 by 36, nears completion.

The new stable has virtually been a one-man building project, the club's president, Griffin Herrick, responsible for more than 90 per cent of the job. Except for a small amount of help, Herrick, during the past fall and winter, put up the entire building. When completed there will be 12 enclosed stalls, with a roof over the outer section accommodating 16 more stalls.

Even under the dark grey skies with fine sleet falling Thursday afternoon the new building looked fine and sturdy, holding promise for all the excitement in store at the next annual horse show on a fine June day. Herrick pointed out the features of the building. Thursday afternoon to Milton Wagenfohr the Riding Club's official photographer, and club members Virgil Van Wagonen and Dick Thibaut.

Russian Ballerina,
45 Today, Planning
To Continue Dancing

Moscow, Jan. 8 (AP)—Galina Ulanova, the prima ballerina who probably the most renowned woman in the USSR, says she's going to be 45 years old tomorrow.

And she claims she doesn't fib about her age.

RETIRE? Nonsense! She says she will continue dancing until her shoes fall off.

This intense little woman said in an interview backstage at the Bolshoi Theatre today she will work as usual on her birthday.

She had to be reminded of the coincidence that tomorrow is also Premier Georgi Malenkov's birthday—his 53rd.

Even though she works she may have an extra cognac—her favorite drink—to celebrate. Her fans and fellow artists will get an opportunity to note the occasion, in a later "Ulanova Night" at the Bolshoi.

IN THIS COUNTRY ballet is almost as much of a national symbol as caviar or vodka and the masses are no less enthusiastic than the classes about ballet as an art.

Asked about her age Ulanova said: "I know it's usual for women to lie about their ages, but I was born on Jan. 8, 1910 in Leningrad." Sitting there drumming her fingers on the desk or twirling her wristwatch on her finger, Ulanova is never still a minute.

"Are you always that nervous? You never rest?"

"Yes," she replied, "you can say I'm at the top of my profession but each day I return home I find something imperfect in my performance—something lacking in three main things. These are technical ability, dramatic talent, and thirdly to be different from others. You must be tops in all to remain tops. You just can't stop working."

WHAT IS HER most cherished dream?

"I want to remain strong and healthy. I want no worries, peace and quiet and no threats. I want to see the sun in the summer and to enjoy the winter. I want to be able to go to western countries as easily as I walk down the Moscow river embankment to my home. I want peace and freedom from fear."

WILL SHE VISIT London and New York before retiring? Ulanova said she receives invitations from the world over but that the Soviet official agency for "cultural relations with foreign countries" (known in Moscow as Voks) makes the arrangements. In 1951 Ulanova danced in Florence, Italy, at the musical festival there. She was enthusiastically received by critics and audiences alike.

SOMETHING IN THE WIND—The blushing bride is well hidden behind her veil, due to heavy wintry winds in London, England. Sharp breezes sent Miss Sidney Walker's lace gown swirling as she arrived at the church to become Mrs. Colin Paul.

The two looks for spring, full skirted and long-torsoed, both demand careful attention to the figure underneath, but for different reasons. In her pert-as-a-gumdrop dress with the smooth tucking over the bosom (left), a gal needs a foundation that will emphasize her bosom, keep her waist small. Also, with the low v-neck, she must have something that won't make an unexpected appearance in her décolletage. The long smooth torso look (center), calls for a higher, rounded bosom, a relaxed waist and a flatter-than-ever hip. For either look, she selects a corselet (right) that does not flatten the bosom. It's strapless and tends to the figure right down over the hips. Cut low, it will go under low necks and strapless dresses without a give-away.

Gleason Figures Other Million On Losing Weight

Hollywood, Jan. 8.—Jackie Gleason, the Rockefeller of TV, today disclosed how he may make another million.

This time the money will come off the fat of the land, including Gleason's.

The rotund, comic, who now smashes the scales at 265 pounds, will start a reducing program on next Saturday's show.

"We have sewed up the new reducing aid that will take blubber off a whale," Gleason declared.

TO PROMOTE the reducing aid, Gleason will start taking it himself beginning next Saturday. He then will weigh himself before 50 million television watchers each Saturday thereafter.

"When I get down to 190 pounds, we'll announce the name of the product and where to buy it," he said. Needless to say, Gleason is one of the principal owners of the reducing aid.

He declined to tell the nature of the slimming aid but commented:

"It's so simple, it's a wonder no one ever thought of it before."

The commercial impact of such a television buildup is obvious. Gleason recently devoted a whole "honeymooners" sketch to the writing of a song called "My Love Song to You."

AT THE END of that skit, he announced that a recording would go on sale the following Monday. By Tuesday the record had sold 260,000 copies and is at the half million mark now.

Gleason's Music Company published the song.

The comedian, who has been vacationing here, recently signed 16 million dollars worth of television contracts with General Motors and CBS-TV.

nouncement of the outline, but reliable French sources said it contained three main proposals.

1. Establishment of the proposed pool would be progressive rather than immediate. There would be a transitional period of two years before the pool took permanent shape.

2. The pool eventually would be managed by an international board acting if necessary by a two-thirds majority instead of by unanimity.

3. The international panel would have relatively wide powers to standardize west European armament under a coordinated purchasing program.

Mendes-France and his staff envisage it as a pool which would provide the supranational elements which the WEU needs for effective control of West Germany's military potential while mustering German manpower into western defense.

Three Cities Bid

convention site subcommittee met in closed session to receive city invitations, its members and Chairman Leonard W. Hall expressed surprise that the Democrats had already picked a date for their convention without waiting for a location.

Butler announced last night that the Democrats had selected Monday, Aug. 27, the second latest date in party history, to start their 1956 national convention. This would leave a much shorter period for campaigning than in the past.

Democrats usually arrange their convention to follow the GOP gathering. There was speculation that Democrats believe it likely President Eisenhower will be renominated in 1956 and thus were willing to make their plans without regard to when the Republicans meet.

BOTH PARTIES in recent years have opened their conventions in July. The Democrats have not yet named a site selection group and the Republicans, although they started the ball rolling today, are not expected to decide on a location for many months.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), a member of Chicago's bipartisan site delegation, told the GOP subcommittee:

"Chicago is not only the most central place in the country, but I believe its auditorium is the only air-conditioned one."

Then, a bit whimsically, he added in prepared remarks:

"Normally Chicago is itself air-conditioned by our cooling lake breezes. Once in a while we have bad luck, but by the laws of probability we should have good weather for the 1956 conventions."

IT WAS HOT in Chicago during the 1952 meetings.

Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) asked the Republicans to meet next year in Philadelphia, marking the centennial of the first Republican National Convention which assembled in that city in June, 1856.

He promised that "everything will be carefully planned and adequately provided for the comfort and convenience of the convention delegates and visitors."

Nothing was said about money at this early date. Cities winning the conventions usually have to pledge around $250,000 as bait to help defray convention costs. The merchants are supposed to get back this and more in increased business.

Mayor Joseph Altam was due to represent Atlantic City, which never has been host to either party conclave.

New York, Jan. 8.—George N. Vitt's letter approving the Agriculture Department's dismissal of Wolf Ladejinsky has brought Vitt's resignation from his own job. In resigning as editor of American Exporter Publications, Vitt said yesterday he did so because of misinterpretation and involuntary character assassination resulting from the letter. Vitt had written to Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson approving his department's dismissal of Ladejinsky as agricultural attaché in Tokyo. The letter was later made public and quickly drew criticism as being anti-Semitic.

Ruffly, the six-foot Texan admitted: "I'm down to 20 of them—and they're going fast." "Worst part of it all," he admitted, "a couple of times it wasn't necessary. She fooled me. I thought she needed changing, and she didn't. How can you be sure, anyway?"

Life Outlook Changes

Glen Ridge, N. J., Jan. 8.—Two young bandits got a different outlook on life within a few hours last night. As they held up their third place of the evening, Nick's gas station in Cedar Grove, they told the attendant: "Look, kid, why work? This is the life." Later, seriously hurt after their auto cracked up in a 60-mile-an-hour chase by police here, one of them mumbled from his hospital stretcher: "I guess it always has to end this way."

Wind Gust Fatal

White Plains, Jan. 8.—A gust of wind knocked down an elderly woman yesterday and caused her death. Called to High School

Gleason Figures

Hollywood, Jan. 8.—Jackie Gleason, the Rockefeller of TV, today disclosed how he may make another million.

This time the money will come off the fat of the land, including Gleason's.

The rotund, comic, who now smashes the scales at 265 pounds, will start a reducing program on next Saturday's show.

"We have sewed up the new reducing aid that will take blubber off a whale," Gleason declared.

TO PROMOTE the reducing aid, Gleason will start taking it himself beginning next Saturday. He then will weigh himself before 50 million television watchers each Saturday thereafter.

"When I get down to 190 pounds, we'll announce the name of the product and where to buy it," he said. Needless to say, Gleason is one of the principal owners of the reducing aid.

He declined to tell the nature of the slimming aid but commented: "It's so simple, it's a wonder no one ever thought of it before."

The commercial impact of such a television buildup is obvious. Gleason recently devoted a whole "honeymooners" sketch to the writing of a song called "My Love Song to You."

AT THE END of that skit, he announced that a recording would go on sale the following Monday. By Tuesday the record had sold 260,000 copies and is at the half million mark now.

Gleason's Music Company published the song.

The comedian, who has been vacationing here, recently signed 16 million dollars worth of television contracts with General Motors and CBS-TV.

Woman . . . truck, according to the report.

HANSEN HEARD a yell, and brought the truck to a stop, seeing both boys lying on the pavement, troopers said.

An ambulance was summoned to take the Weeks boy to the Benedictine Hospital, where he was listed in a critical condition with a skull fracture. He died at 10:20 p. m., hospital authorities reported.

Doyle was treated by Dr. B. W. Gifford for abrasions and contusions, troopers reported. Coroner Galletta, Sgt. Reilly and Trooper H. S. Rhodes investigated. The truck driver was not held.

The Weeks boy's funeral will be in charge of Hartley & Lamouree of Saugerties.

announcement of the outline, but reliable French sources said it contained three main proposals.

1. Establishment of the proposed pool would be progressive rather than immediate. There would be a transitional period of two years before the pool took permanent shape.

2. The pool eventually would be managed by an international board acting if necessary by a two-thirds majority instead of by unanimity.

3. The international panel would have relatively wide powers to standardize west European armament under a coordinated purchasing program.

Mr. Deane, French and his staff envisage it as a pool which would provide the supranational elements which the WEU needs for effective control of West Germany's military potential while mustering German manpower into western defense.

Denies Red Claim
Berlin, Jan. 8.—A British subject—once reported by the Communists as seeking asylum in the Soviet zone of Germany—has returned to the West denying the Red claim. British authorities said Anthony Jackson, 20, was released by the Russians three days ago, crossed into West Berlin and now has returned to London. They said Jackson told the British high commission here that he crossed into the Russian zone at Helmstedt by accident last month and was picked up by the Communist German police who called in Soviet officers.

Foul Shooting Decides Game; MHS Raps Liberty

Brodhead Scores 33 Points

Newburgh Academy's flock of little field pieces overcame Kingston High's Big Bertha last night before a jam-packed crowd at the Kate Walton Field House.

Notwithstanding a near record performance by Skip Brodhead, who rimmed 33 points, and a magnificent rebounding effort by Bob Maines, Coach Lanky Masterson's Goldbacks scored a vital 76-71 victory that may have won the DUSO pennant.

Brodhead was tremendous with his 33 points, just two short of the all-time KHS record, and Maines played the game of his life. He missed two easy "chippies" that would have given him a new record.

But in the end it was the superior teamwork and speed of the Goldbacks that prevailed, even if the actual margin was picked up at the charity stripe.

THE GOLDBACKS won their third straight DUSO triumph with Mickey "The Marvel" Burkoski playing only a modest role with 18 points. Three others hit in double figures—Harold Kaplan 15, John Schoenberger 13 and Ralph Clark 14.

Clark scored 9 points in the crucial fourth period and Kaplan hit 17. Between them they converted eight fouls.

Kingston outscored NFA from the field, 28-25, but the Goldbacks had 25 foul conversions in 39 tries. The Maroon picked up seven in 13 attempts. But the Kismen were frequently guilty of loose ball handling and often failed to move the ball in accustomed manner.

A pair of foul shots by Ralph Clark sent Newburgh ahead 65-64 at the 3:00 mark in the fourth quarter but Brodhead fired a one-hander that regained the lead 66-63 for Kingston. At 2:53 left, Clark hit with a running layup and NFA moved 67-66. Huber hit with a foul and it was 68-66.

BRODHEAD dropped a foul and Ray Lawrence went under for a layup and it was Kingston 69, Newburgh 68 with 2:18 remaining. John Wooley fouled out as he held Clark for his fifth infraction and Clark made one of the two to tie the score at 69-69 at 2:12.

Joe Castanero hit with a driving layup to snap the tie and send NFA ahead to stay, 71-69. The Goldbacks went into a slow freeze and Kantrowitz eventually fouled Kaplan. The speedy NFA forward collected both and it was 73-69.

Brodhead got a shot at the basket and it rimmed off the hoop. Then he followed Kaplan, who made one. Don Baum fouled Burkoski who got one and it was 75-69. Lawrence got through Kingston's last defense in the closing seconds.

NEWBURGH TOOK charge quickly in the opening quarter not so much on the strength of their own shooting but because of abominable luck on Maroon shots. They led by 13-2 at one stage. It wasn't until 5 minutes and 24 seconds of period had elapsed that Brodhead hit with a one-hander for Kingston's basket.

Brodhead was the picture of shooting perfection as he rolled up 10 points in the first period; 8 in the second; 10 in the third and 5 in the fourth. As far as the "duel" with Burkoski, Skip was far and away more eye-catching last night. But he had only Maines to give him solid support in the scoring column.

Marty Kantrowitz scored 12 points for Kingston, breaking in with his big period with eight markers for the second quarter. But Brodhead and Maines, great as they were, just couldn't match the brilliant team effort thrown up by the Goldbacks.

FLIRTS WITH RECORD: Skip Brodhead came within two points of the KHS record shared by Ronnie Scheffel and Leroy Hooker when he scored 33 points against Newburgh Academy last night at the field house.

Jayvees Defeat NFA JVs 45-43

The KHS Jayvees pulled one out of the fire against Newburgh yearlings, 45-43, thanks to a clutch basket by Tony Grimaldi in the final 50 seconds.

It was Grimaldi who shook himself loose from a semi-freeze and bucketed the deuce that put Kingston ahead 45-41 and nullified a last second basket by the Goldback juniors.

COACH JOHN Gilligan's cagers led 8-7 at the quarter and 23-21 at halftime, but the Newburghers knotted the count at 33-33 going into the stretch. It was see-saw until the closing minute.

Bobby Smith led Kingston with 12 points, with Grimaldi hitting 11 and Mel Johnson 10.

AROUND THE SPORTS WHEEL: Coach Ken Norton of Manhattan College, a member of the basketball Rules Committee of the NCAA, predicted the death of the current, controversial "bonus rule" at the end of the 1954-55 season.

The Manhattan redhead, a real pro at heart and one of the all-time greats at Long Island U., says he will campaign for adoption of the 24-second rule used by the NBA with outstanding success this season.

"The only squawk I see against the 24-second rule will come from smaller schools, YMCAs and high schools because of the expense involved in purchasing clocks," Norton said. A 24-second clock now costs about $400 but there are only eight in use in the whole country. Mass production from high school to college level would bring the cost to reasonable levels.

When the 24-second rule will be several attempts to modify it or alter its present form. One of the soundest suggestions we have come across would use the present rules until the last five minutes of each half in college ball. That would mean 30 minutes of regular play and 10 minutes with the clock.

Praise From the Southland:
Praise for Dick Bezemer's brilliant playing with Rollins College continues to pour in through the mails. Latest to point up Dick's great performance with the Tars comes from Leroy Lounsbury, former well-known county lawyer of Ellenville, who now resides at Deland, Florida.

"Dick Bezemer is a sensation down here as is partially attested by the enclosed clippings," Lounsbury writes. One of the clippings pointed out that Rollins rolled for a phenomenal 58.8 per cent of their shots in upsting NYU, 87-79, making good on 30 of 51 shots from the floor. Bezemer, who scored 23 points, hit on seven of eight shots from the floor during the game.

Flotsam and Jetsam:
Tom Stenson says we had the wrong Groza listed in the recent article about Bill Spivey. And he's so right. It was Alex Groza, not Lou "The Toe" of the Cleveland Browns who was involved in the Kentucky basketball scandal. . . . Since they started playing the Big Ten nine years ago, the Pacific Coast teams have scored only six points in the fourth quarter. . . . Frank Koenig's 17-for-31 six point goal gives him a phenomenal 51.5 shooting percentage, highest on the Siena College squad. . . . He has hit nine out of 10 free throws. . . . Whenever Leo Durocher isn't within listening distance, Willie Mays whispers that he's fed up with Puerto Rican baseball, tired, his knees banged up. . . . and just plain wants to go home. So says Murray Olderman of NEA.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Dick McCarthy who is resting his mellifluous larynx at the hospital. . . . Note to KBA guys—Don't forget this is sign up time for the annual tournament. A good sized local delegation will attend the NFA football dinner tonight at the Hotel Newburgh. Will make it easier for us to justify six Kingston players on the All-DUSO to a critical audience. Jake Senior losing breakfast rolls and buns several days in succession elicited no sympathy from Eddie Myers. He chided the Strand restaurateur for not leaving milk and butter for the culprits.

Smith-Gonsalves Bout at Miami
Miami, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP)—A slugger will be pitted against a boxer when Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati and Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., meet tonight in the 10-round feature fight in the City Auditorium.

Smith, the heavy hitter, is a 7-5 favorite, in spite of the fact that Gonsalves invaded his home town and outpointed him last May. That was the only defeat by a lightweight on Smith's record during the past year.

The fight will be televised nationally (ABC), starting at 9 p. m. (EST).

Hawks Check Knicks, 85-75
(By The Associated Press)
If the New York Knickerbockers could get around to winning two games in succession, they might be able to forget about holding on to second place in the eastern division of the National Basketball Assn. and concentrate on catching Syracuse.

They had a chance to gain some ground on the Nats last night, but lost 85-75 to Milwaukee's Hawks at New Haven in the only game scheduled. The defeat dropped the Knicks to within a single percentage point of the third place Boston Celtics.

Saugerties High is perched atop the Ulster County Athletic League standings today, the only undefeated club in the seven-team county circuit.

But Coach Bill Straub's Sawyers had to pull a 54-53 squeaker out of the fire against a stubborn New Paltz squad last night to assume the league lead. They now boast a 4-0 record.

Highland High favored the Sawyers by knocking off undefeated Kerhonkson, 54-49, shattering a four-game skein of Coach Meehan's charges.

Marlboro Central, the defending champions, defeated Wallkill 51-47 in a thriller.

SAUGERTIES trailed New Paltz, 15-13 at the quarter but eked out a 29-28 margin at the half and led 40-37 at the three quarter mark.

Midway in the fourth period it was 44-42 and it was nip and tuck down to the wire when Bert Ledwith iced the contest with a pair of foul shots with 15 seconds left to play.

Joe Martin led Saugerties with 19 points and Bob Hansen rimmed 10. Don Jayne hit 15 for New Paltz, Darrell Harp had 12 and Art Dehardt 11.

HIGHLAND took charge in the early moments of the game with Kerhonkson and led all the way. Coach Bill Relyea's charges moved ahead 18-8 at the quarter mark and were in front 30-19 at halftime and breezed to their third win in five starts.

Charles Crimi paced the southern Ulster brigade with 13 points and Evan MacClinton racked up 12. High scoring Johnny Mustion flipped 18 markers and Werner Wustrau rimmed 16 for Kerhonkson.

Kerhonkson finished with a 20-point fourth period but by that time the game was out of reach.

WALLKILL led Marlboro until the last two minutes of play when center Carston Conn hit with a side set and Joe Serra with a driving layup to break a 47-47 deadlock. The losers had a couple of shots at the basket but missed.

The home cagers, led by Walter Baumann and Wilson Edmunds led 14-10 at the quarter, 25-21 at halftime and 39-37 going into the stretch.

Baumann was high scorer with 17 points and Edmunds hit 14. Carston Conn led Marlboro with 15 points. Others in double figures were Brooks 13, Joe Sarra 12 and Dick Collins 11.

Foul Shooting Decides Game; Brodhead Scores 33 Points

Newburgh Academy's flock of little field pieces overcame Kingston High's Big Bertha last night before a jam-packed crowd at the Kate Walton Field House.

Notwithstanding a near record performance by Skip Brodhead, who rimmed 33 points, and a magnificent rebounding effort by Bob Maines, Coach Lanky Masterson's Goldbacks scored a vital 76-71 victory that may have won the DUSO pennant.

Brodhead was tremendous with his 33 points, just two short of the all-time KHS record, and Maines played the game of his life. He missed two easy "chippies" that would have given him a new record.

But in the end it was the superior teamwork and speed of the Goldbacks that prevailed, even if the actual margin was picked up at the charity stripe.

THE GOLDBACKS won their third straight DUSO triumph with Mickey "The Marvel" Burkoski playing only a modest role with 18 points. Three others hit in double figures—Harold Kaplan 15, John Schoenberger 13 and Ralph Clark 14.

Clark scored 9 points in the crucial fourth period and Kaplan hit 17. Between them they converted eight fouls.

Kingston outscored NFA from the field, 28-25, but the Goldbacks had 25 foul conversions in 39 tries. The Maroon picked up seven in 13 attempts. But the Kismen were frequently guilty of loose ball handling and often failed to move the ball in accustomed manner.

A pair of foul shots by Ralph Clark sent Newburgh ahead 65-64 at the 3:00 mark in the fourth quarter but Brodhead fired a one-hander that regained the lead 66-65 for Kingston. At 2:53 left, Clark hit with a running layup and NFA moved 67-66. Huber hit with a foul and it was 68-66.

BRODHEAD dropped a foul and Ray Lawrence went under for a layup and it was Kingston 69, Newburgh 68 with 2:18 remaining. John Woolsey fouled out as he held Clark for his fifth infraction and Clark made one of the two to tie the score at 69-69 at 2:12.

It was all Newburgh the rest of the way as the contest deteriorated into a parade of foul calls against Kingston by referees Roberts and Gros. Joe Castanero hit with a driving layup to snap the tie and send NFA ahead to stay, 71-69. The Goldbacks went into a slow freeze and Kantrowitz eventually fouled Kaplan. The speedy NFA forward collected both and it was 73-69.

Brodhead got a shot at the bucket and it rimmed off the hoop. Then he followed off Kaplan, who made one. Don Baum fouled Burkoski who got one and it was 75-69. Lawrence got through for Kingston's last decade in the closing seconds.

NEWBURGH TOOK charge quickly in the opening quarter not so much on the strength of their own shooting but because of abominable luck on Maroon shots. They led by 13-2 at one stage. It wasn't until 5 minutes and 24 seconds of period had elapsed that Brodhead hit with a one-hander for Kingston's basket.

Brodhead was the picture of shooting perfection as he rolled up 10 points in the first period; 8 in the second; 10 in the third and 5 in the fourth. As far as the "duel" with Burkoski, Skip was far and away more eye-catching last night. But he had only Maine to give him solid support in the scoring column.

Marty Kantrowitz scored 12 points for Kingston, breaking in with his big period with eight markers for the second quarter. But Brodhead and Maines, great as they were, just couldn't match the brilliant team effort thrown up by the Goldbacks.

Jayvees Defeat NFA JVs 45-43

The KHS Jayvees pulled one out of the fire against Newburgh yearlings, 45-43, thanks to a clutch basket by Tony Grimaldi in the final 50 seconds.

It was Grimaldi who shook himself loose from a semi-freeze and bucketed the deuce that put Kingston ahead 45-41 and nullified a last second basket by the Goldback juniors.

COACH JOHN Gilligan's cagers led 8-7 at the quarter and 23-21 at halftime, but the Newburghers knotted the count at 33-33 going into the stretch. It was see-saw until the closing minute.

Bobby Smith led Kingston with 12 points, with Grimaldi hitting 11 and Mel Johnson 10.

Plattekill Lions To Incorporate

Plattekill — The Town of Plattekill Lions Club met at a dinner-meeting on Wednesday evening, Jan. 5 to complete the plans for incorporating the organization under the laws of the State of New York.

Angelo Ruggerio's motion to incorporate was seconded by Merton E. Jenkins and the 24 members present unanimously agreed.

Joseph P. Torracca, attorney at law of Marlborough and member of the Marlborough-Milton Lions Club, Inc., who explained the advantages obtainable by incorporation. He indicated that permission to incorporate had already been obtained from the office of secretary of state at Albany.

THE NEW NAME of the organization will read Town of Plattekill Lions Club, Inc.

Andrew Montrora, president, presided at the first meeting of the new year at Primo's Hotel, Ardenia.

The Central Hudson employees of Clintondale donated $9 toward the blind seal stamp project currently underway and sponsored by the Town of Plattekill Lions Club, Inc.

Next meeting is Wednesday, Jan. 19 at Primo's Hotel, Ardenia and will begin at 7:30 p. m.

To Pay on Light Bill in Advance

Plattekill, Jan. 7.—The town board of Plattekill Township accepted the suggestion made by the Central Hudson Electric Company that the street lighting bill in Clintondale area which amounts to approximately $900 a year be paid in advance of the forthcoming year of 1955. The Central Hudson offered a three per cent discount that would benefit the budget of the lighting district of Clintondale. A saving of $27 would result of such action. This was decided upon at the final meeting of the year on Dec. 30, 1954 with all members of the board present.

Eber Coy, supervisor, presided. The board appointed for the new year the following as constables: Edmund Wager, Plattekill; James I. Allen, Modena; Ike Wager, Clintondale; Vincent Porcelli, Jr., Tuckers Corners.

The chief of all constables will be appointed at the next regular meeting set for Wednesday evening, Jan. 12 at the town hall, Modena.

The Hudson Valley Newspaper was named as the town official paper.

Huguenot National Bank of New Paltz was named as the town depository of Town of Plattekill funds.

The Town of Plattekill Highway department is erecting the name plate of the town roads leading off state roads—Routes 32 and 44-55.

The board anticipates to purchase name plates for the remaining roads in the township for this coming summer.

Councilman William Doolittle said that "our town roads have a combined mileage of a little over 42 miles and 12 of them have been oiled and we expect to add a few more this summer."

Eventually all roads will be taken into consideration.

The Plattekill board was asked through the Association of Towns their opinion on the Niagara power project. Three of the board members favored the program. Councilman Doolittle said that "the state of New York would do a better job as the land was situated and should be controlled by them as the project itself is highly controversial."

Firemen Games On January 28th

Plattekill, Jan. 7.—Youngsters and their parents of Plattekill are cordially invited to further the success of a game-night social that is being sponsored by the Plattekill Volunteer Fire Company.

On Friday, Jan. 28, the firehouse doors on old Route 32 will be wide open to welcome folks for an evening of fun.

Edward Neuwirth, Ony P. Orlovski and Ralph Garcia have been appointed by President Myron Foster to serve on this money-raising campaign.

HEALTH FOR ALL

FOR THE FUTURE

You are a man in your 40's and you are resting at home for a few months. Not your idea of living? Of course not. But it is happening to an increasing number of men who break down with tuberculosis in their middle years.

Treatment of TB with drugs developed in recent years has made it possible for some patients to leave the hospital after a certain point and finish treatment at home. Selected patients are able to go through the entire course of treatment at home with regular visits to a clinic.

As one of either group, you have some very special problems, as you well know.

It's a lonely life in spite of being with your family. In a hospital you would be with others making the same fight against TB. Eager as your family and friends are to help, they cannot share all your burdens. You have to do the "resting" to give your body a chance to heal. You have to fill hours that seem much more than 60 minutes long. You may be plagued with worries about the future.

Stop right there. You can do something about the future. Your state and the Federal government are partners in a program to prepare you for and place you in the right job when you are well again. This could mean helping you return safely to your old job or to some new kind of work. These are not charity services. They are your right, just as a public school education is your child's right.

Your doctor will tell you when you are physically able to start training. He or the public health nurse or social worker can help you get in touch with the proper agency. In most states called the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation. You may be able to start on a correspondence course right away. Later there may be special school or on-the-job training. You can be sure of getting all necessary help in starting back to work. There is no cost to you for most of these services.

But I am not this man, you insist. Let's hope you won't be one of the 110,000 Americans who will be stricken with TB this year. But chances are you will know one of them. You can help and encourage him to take full advantage of his "rest period" to build a better future.

"I once wanted to change my name to something nice and mellifluous," Art says. "I think it was 'Warren Stevens' or something like that. Then I realized that H. V. Kaltenborn was getting along all right with his name, so I kept my own. And it's been a help — when people learn it, they don't forget it. Opera vs. the stage: which takes the most acting skill? Cesare Siepi considered a moment. Siepi, the Met's great basso, is one of opera's most gifted actors — as well as being probably the handsomest opera star in captivity.

"There are differences," he said. "On a legitimate stage you can turn your back on the audience, whisper, pause for effect — do anything you like."

"But an opera is like a machine. The music governs your actions. The music keeps going so you cannot pause. And you must think of acoustics: people come to hear the singing. You may be supposed to be singing to someone behind you, but still you must face the audience when you sing."

So, from an acting standpoint alone, the stage is easier? "Well, not entirely. There are some nice things about acting in opera. Some parts you are a high priest, say in 'Aida.' All you do is stand there. That is easy. And the music helps you sometimes — you always have the music to fall back on."

Comment Held Up on Milk Pool

Albany, Jan. 8 (AP)—Milk distributors and the New York State Agriculture Commissioner today withheld public comment on New York milkshed dairy-men's bid for a "super pool."

But the president of one consumer-farmer cooperative in the New York city area describes the plan, aimed at keeping producer income from sagging during the winter months, as "economic illiteracy."

The dairymen presented their plan to Agriculture Commissioner Daniel J. Carey and the distributors yesterday at a meeting called by Carey. About 200 attended.

UNDER THE SUPER pool plan, distributors would continue to pay the December price of $5.49 a hundredweight for fluid milk into the producer pool for the ensuing four months, even though the price set under the federal-state milk marketing order would fall below that figure.

Carey said he had not taken part in the discussion. He said he would call another meeting on the proposal later this month.

"My department has the interests of the dairy industry fully at heart," he told the dairymen and distributors.

THE DAIRYMEN and distributors met in open session in the afternoon. Then they separated and the dairymen met publicly in one room and the distributors met privately in another.

Meyer Parodnick of New York city, president of the Consumer-Farmer Milk Cooperative, criticized the proposals as a "pain reliever, not a cure" for the dairymen's economic ills. He called it "economic illiteracy."

Parodnick, who said his group represented 20,000 consumers and 500 farmers, said at the meeting that there were other answers to the problem. He told a reporter later that one solution was more economical producer operations.

THE MEETINGS were an extension of a session late last month in Syracuse.

James A. Young of Angelica, president of the Metropolitan Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, said he thought the super pool plan was "the best way out until we find something better."

Other leaders supporting it were J. Thomas Cribbs of Poyntelle, Pa., president of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Assn.; Kenneth A. Shaul of Cobleskill, president of the Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives; and Seymour K. Rodenhurst of Theresa, representing the Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn. Inc.

Heaviest Action Takes Place Off Quemoy

Taipei, Formosa, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry reported today the heaviest action in the artillery duel off Red China since the new year.

The ministry said Communist cannon on Amoy, 120 miles across the strait from Formosa, fired 88 shells at Quemoy yesterday and eight at Tsuyu, a tiny, Nationalist island nearby.

Nationalist guns on Quemoy countered the shelling "effectively," the ministry reported.

It said one old woman on Quemoy was wounded fatally, a young woman was hurt seriously and a school house was demolished.

Last night the Reds on Tumen Island fired 26 shells at Yikiangshan Island, but caused neither damage nor casualties, the ministry added. Those islands are near the Tachens.

Tankers Collide

Port Said, Egypt, Jan. 8 (AP)—Two oil tankers collided today in the Bay of Suez, setting one afire. The 17,722 ton Olympic Thunder and the 21,200-ton Olympic Honor were involved in the collision. The impact caused an explosion aboard the Thunder, but the crew managed to put out the fire. There were no casualties and no damage was reported to the Honor. Both tankers are owned by Olympic Lines of Panama. The Suez Canal was blocked a week ago when another oil tanker, owned by a Greek company, smashed into a swing bridge.

Actor Wins Right To Wait for Stage Job

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—A jobless actor has won the right to turn down offers of employment in other fields and still collect unemployment benefits while waiting for a new job on the stage.

The unemployment insurance office had cut off payments to John Martone, an actor since 1947, after he declined several typist jobs. Martone had once worked as a typist between theatrical engagements and the unemployment office claimed he was now refusing jobs for which he was reasonably fitted by training and experience.

This opinion was upheld by a referee and Martone appealed to the State's Unemployment Insurance Appeal Board.

MARTONE ARGUED that the office's decision tended to discourage actors and force them into other fields in order to keep them from losing unemployment benefits.

Herman E. Cooper, counsel for Actors Equity, told the Appeal Board that a ruling against Martone would penalize actors who have other occupational skills and favor those who have no outside abilities.

In ruling that Martone had a right to benefits, the board said he "was justified in limiting his availability for employment to the occupation in which he was trained and...employed...particularly since the record does not indicate that the prospects of his obtaining employment in such occupation were remote."

Comment Held Up on Milk Pool

Albany, Jan. 8 (AP)—Milk distributors and the New York State Agriculture Commission today withheld public comment on New York milkshed dairy-men's bid for a "super pool."

But the president of one consumer-farmer cooperative in the New York city area describes the plan, aimed at keeping producer income from sagging during the winter months, as "economic illiteracy."

The dairymen presented their plan to Agriculture Commissioner Daniel J. Carey and the distributors yesterday at a meeting called by Carey. About 200 attended.

UNDER THE SUPER pool plan, distributors would continue to pay the December price of $5.49 a hundredweight for fluid milk into the producer pool for the ensuing four months, even though the price set under the federal-state milk marketing order would fall below that figure.

Carey said he had not taken part in the discussion. He said he would call another meeting on the proposal later this month.

"My department has the interests of the dairy industry fully at heart," he told the dairymen and distributors.

THE DAIRYMEN and distributors met in open session in the afternoon. Then they separated and the dairymen met publicly in one room and the distributors met privately in another.

Meyer Parodnick of New York city, president of the Consumer-Farmer Milk Cooperative, criticized the proposals as a "pain reliever, not a cure" for the dairymen's economic ills. He called it "economic illiteracy."

Parodnick, who said his group represented 20,000 consumers and 500 farmers, said at the meeting that there were other answers to the problem. He told a reporter later that one solution was more economical producer meetings.

THE MEETINGS were an extension of a session late last month in Syracuse.

James A. Young of Angelica, president of the Metropolitan Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, said he thought the super pool plan was "the best way out until we find something better."

Other leaders supporting it were J. Thomas Cribbs of Poyntelle, Pa., president of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Assn.; Kenneth A. Shaul of Cobleskill, president of the Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives; and Seymour K. Rodenhurst of Theresa, representing the Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn. Inc.

Heaviest Action Takes Place Off Quemoy

Taipei, Formosa, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry reported today the heaviest action in the artillery duel off Red China since the new year.

The ministry said Communist cannon on Amoy, 120 miles across the strait from Formosa, fired 88 shells at Quemoy yesterday and eight at Tsuyu, a tiny, Nationalist island nearby.

Nationalist guns on Quemoy countered the shelling "effectively," the ministry reported.

It said one old woman on Quemoy was wounded fatally, a young woman was hurt seriously and a school house was demolished.

Last night the Reds on Tumen Island fired 26 shells at Yikingshan Island, but caused neither damage nor casualties, the ministry added. Those islands are near the Tachens.

Tankers Collide

Port Said, Egypt, Jan. 8 (AP)—Two oil tankers collided today in the Bay of Suez, setting one afire. The 17,722-ton Olympic Thunder and the 21,200-ton Olympic Honor were involved in the collision. The impact caused an explosion aboard the Thunder, but the crew managed to put out the fire. There were no casualties and no damage was reported to the Honor. Both tankers are owned by Olympic Lines of Panama. The Suez Canal was blocked a week ago when another oil tanker, owned by a Greek company, smashed into a swing bridge.

Actor Wins Right To Wait for Stage Job

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—A jobless actor has won the right to turn down offers of employment in other fields and still collect unemployment benefits while waiting for a new job on the stage.

The unemployment insurance office had cut off payments to John Martone, an actor since 1947, after he declined several typist jobs. Martone had once worked as a typist between theatrical engagements and the unemployment office claimed he was now refusing jobs for which he was reasonably fitted by training and experience.

This opinion was upheld by a referee and Martone appealed to the State's Unemployment Insurance Appeal Board.

MARTONE ARGUED that the office's decision tended to discourage actors and force them into other fields in order to keep them from losing unemployment benefits.

Herman E. Cooper, counsel for Actors Equity, told the Appeal Board that a ruling against Martone would penalize actors who have other occupational skills and favor those who have no outside abilities.

In ruling that Martone had a right to benefits, the board said he "was justified in limiting his availability for employment to the occupation in which he was trained and...employed...particularly since the record does not indicate that the prospects of his obtaining employment in such occupation were remote."

Take That, You Rat!

Detroit (AP)—Bus riders beat a passenger to death when they found out he was a rat. The rat got on the bus without waiting in line. And like a rat, he sneaked in a rear door without paying a fare.

Patterson Stops Troy In Fifth

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Everybody faults Floyd Patterson except the ring record book which shows 19 gaudy victories in 20 pro starts after last night's fifth round technical knockout over Willie Troy.

"He missed too much," said Troy, sixth-ranked middleweight contender from Washington, D. C., as he sat in his dressing room with a tightly closed left eye and an "egg" over the right lamp.

"He couldn't knock out a middleweight," said a fight manager. But that was strictly a technicality for the ex-Olympic champ battered Troy with his quick, violent hands so that even Al Weill, the loser's manager, asked them to stop it.

IT WAS strictly no contest at Madison Square Garden where two officials, Referee Al Berli and Judge Artie Aidala had it 5-0 shutout until it was stopped. So did the A.P. Judge Harold Barnes gave the first round to Troy, the only close round of the fight, and had it 4-1 at the end of five.

The ending provoked the usual queries. Under New York rules it went as a fifth round TKO for the time between rounds belongs to the previous round until the bell rings. In National Boxing Association (NBA) states, it would have been the sixth for a round ends with the bell and the one-minute rest period belongs to the next round.

Rocking Troy with those rapid-fire combinations, Patterson the 18 to 5 favorite, had trouble only when Troy moved inside and snuggled close in the third. Patterson weighed 166, Troy 162.

Engineer Gets Atom Assignment

Evan C. Kovacic, chemical engineer with the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., has been assigned to the nuclear engineering department of the Brookhaven National Laboratory to study atomic power production, it was announced today by Ernest R. Acker, utility company president. Kovacic's assignment will afford Central Hudson an opportunity to increase its knowledge of electric power production in the field of nuclear energy, Acker said.

The announcement of Kovacic's assignment to the Brookhaven Laboratory at Upton, Long Island, followed closely the affiliation of Central Hudson with Atomic Power Development Associates, a nuclear power study group, on December 21, 1954. Acker said Central Hudson's participation in the two atomic power projects permits the utility company to more actively cooperate with other investor-owned utility companies and manufacturing firms in study and research activities in an effort to determine the potential application of nuclear energy to its own electric power operations.

KOVACIC, whose residence is Marlborough, received the assignment following the necessary security clearance by the Atomic Energy Commission. His assignment to Brookhaven will be effective January 17. Prior to joining Central Hudson in June 1952, Kovacic was associated with the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research and the Phillips Petroleum Co. He obtained his Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering from the University of Pittsburgh in 1948, and his Master of Science degree from the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago.

The objective of private industry's atomic research activities, Acker explained, is the more economic generation of electric power through the use of nuclear fuels which, in generating heat, produce steam. Atomic Power Development Associates, he noted, is experimenting with a so-called breeder type of nuclear reactor utilizing a solid uranium fuel element and a liquid metal coolant. The reactor under study at Brookhaven utilizes a liquid uranium fuel element. Acker commented that Central Hudson's participation in studies of the two different nuclear reactors would allow it to broaden its "knowledge of nuclear power techniques and qualify certain personnel for this great and important field."

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time readers bring me items which are unattainable unless found by accident like running through an old book or desk drawer. I have now before me the 112th anniversary graduation of Kingston Free Academy, dated Friday, June 25, 1886. The front cover shows the Academy which used to stand at Academy Green. There are 17 graduates and perhaps some of the readers will find their ancestors among the Class of '86 of Kingston Academy. The members of the class were Anna Abbey, Maggie Terpenning Connelly, Jennie Antoinette Disbrow, Nellie Kerr Hutton, Roosa Krum, Mary Larsen, Lillie Hasbrouck De La Montanya, Cynthia Ross Otis, Helen D. Palen, Nellie Palen, Lizzie Odell Powely, Whelmena Winne, Helen Dibble Westbrook, Mary Veneta Williamson and Alpheus Coddington, Floyd Bonesteel Ennis and Joseph Krauser. Notice how they use Lizzie instead of Elizabeth and Maggie instead of Margaret.

The Hon. Alton B. Parker gave out the diplomas. The oration with valedictory was given by Alpheus Coddington and titled "Nationality and Individuality." A historical essay was given by Anna Abbey called "A Rosary of Golden Deeds." Cynthia R. Otis gave an essay called "The Grandest Victories Not Material." Lillie H. De La Montanya spoke on "Life's Purpose." Nellie K. Hutton on "The Real and the Ideal." Maggie T. Connelly went in for a philosophical essay called "Growth." I wonder how Nellie Palen's essay on "The Ruins of Time" would be taken today.

Going back into life before 1886 when these girls and the three young men were getting their diplomas in the Recreation Hall of the Kingston Free Academy of Kingston we find the following: The safety bicycle came into being in 1886, so no doubt many of the students were still riding around on the high wheeler. Furnace for steel making was just coming in, in 1861 so even the students who would take any mechanical lines would have a struggle with still an unknown metal. We now with our super-modern means and TV cannot imagine life without it but the gramophone as it was called then was just coming in around 1885. Most high school students today are familiar with reasonably priced flash cameras, but in 1888 Kodak was just coming out with his inventions.

How different the school rooms at the old Academy must have looked for Edison came out with his incandescent lamp only in 1878. They were not even acquainted with the gas mantle for that did not show up till 1893 when it was invented by Weisbach. I am sure no student of the 1886 class owned or could race a motorcycle up to the school grounds like they did years later at Kingston High School for it was invented in 1885 by Daimler, a German.

Perhaps it did not reach this country until much later. Although perhaps the students were willing to cut the grass in front of their homes they did not own a lawn mower for it was just coming out in 1868 and no doubt the initial models were expensive. Waterman did not think of his fountain pen or get it on the market until 1884 and of course the ball point pen is the miracle of this modern age. No matter how we brag the years to come, no doubt, will be even more remarkable as far as inventions go.

Marilyn Forms Her Own Business Firm

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe's reported "new look" is the same old ravishing look—only she has become a real businesswoman.

At a celebrity-dotted cocktail party and news conference yesterday in the Manhattan apartment of her lawyer, Miss Monroe appeared in a white satin sheath gown, rhinestone earrings and a hair-do she defines as "dark platinum."

Reports of a "new look," Marilyn said, were news to her, but she did announce she has formed her own corporation, Marilyn Monroe Productions, Inc.

The film star said she wants to "broaden her scope," adding: "I want to help produce, such as television and all kinds of things."

Her lawyer, Frank Delaney, said he believes Miss Monroe is a free agent, having no contract with 20th Century Fox.

Marilyn said she now felt fine but—tired, anemic and overworked—she has been recuperating for several weeks at the Westport, Conn., home of a photographer friend, Milton Greene.

Mint Going Out

San Francisco, Jan. 8 (AP)—After more than a century of money-making which ranged from $20 gold pieces to copper pennies, the San Francisco mint is going out of business. Its plant is outmoded and its hill-top location prevents expansion. After about March 31 the mint will be only an assay office and storage vault. Born of the gold rush days, April 3, 1854, the mint began operations next door to the Hudson Bay Co.

Pope Out of Danger

Vatican City, Jan. 8 (AP)—Clemente Cardinal Micara, The Vatican's vicar general, today instructed priests celebrating Mass to eliminate reference to the illness of Pope Pius XII in their prayers. The cardinal's action reflected the increased confidence of Roman Catholic Church authorities in the improvement of the 78-year-old Pope who suffered a grave collapse Dec. 2.

Holiday Spirit At Benedictine

The Sisters and staff of the Benedictine Hospital express sincere thanks to their many friends for their kind remembrance in contributing so generously toward the happiness of the patients at Christmas.

Members of the auxiliary were in charge of the decorations that converted the hospital into a scene of beauty. Wreaths and yule logs with candles were in evidence everywhere. Many windows throughout the building were also decorated with the various Christmas scenes. The decorations in the children's department were particularly effective, and the little ones were well remembered. Beautiful gifts for the children were received from several organizations. Christmas carols were sung by the choirs of the various churches and schools.

Th Salvation Army, too, was solicitous and generous in their distribution of gift packages throughout the hospital. The merchants as usual were most generous, and many friends contributed an abundance of pointsettias and attractive plants which made our chapel more beautiful than ever.

A most fitting conclusion for the Christmas festivities was the concert with carols played Thursday evening on the Feast of the Epiphany or the Three Kings by the members of the musicians union, Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, Johnny Knapp and his orchestra with Red Ives, Bill Paulus and Frank Spies.

Sure, I have a little fire insurance

DON'T FOOL YOURSELF ABOUT FIRE INSURANCE...

If you're going to carry fire insurance, carry enough.

Many people merely carry "some" fire insurance, to ease their minds a little.

You should face the facts. What if a fire burned your home or business TO THE GROUND tonight? What would it cost you to replace your loss at today's prices?

Your insurance should be big enough to cover a major portion of replacement cost now. THAT is the way to decide how much fire insurance to carry. SEE US TODAY.

M. J. HOUSE MOSCOW IOWA GENERAL MERCHANDISE POST OFFICE

RUSSIANS ARE BANNED FROM MOSCOW—Moscow, Iowa, that is. The two-store town is located in one of the areas which are off-limits for Russian nationals traveling in this country, under recently stiffened travel regulations of the State Department.

Postmaster-storekeeper M. J. House posts a "Russians forbidden" sign at the door as his contribution to the protest against travel restrictions imposed on U. S. citizens who visit behind the Iron Curtain.
